Required Textbook and Materials:

Intermediate Accounting Vol. II, Spiceland, Sepe, Nelson, Thomas (9th ed. Customized).

Use of technology:

All questions, exercises, and problems listed on the syllabi are accessible to the student through an online learning platform furnished by the publisher. The learning platforms are 24/7 and include a wide variety of interactive tools for students to use as a supplement to the classroom (i.e., tutorials, step by step illustrations, video walkthroughs, algorithmic versions of assigned exercises and problems, etc.). All components of the on-line platform are tied directly to the SLOs for each chapter.

Conduct of the Course:

Adequate preparation for each class is required for success. Students should read each chapter before it is covered with all other reading assignments completed prior to class. Students should work through exercises and problems covered in class. Students are encouraged to ask questions on any material not clear to them. In case of absence, students are responsible for material covered. Announced examinations will be conducted periodically and quizzes may be given at any time without notice.

Grading:

Class Examinations	XX
Final Examination	XX
	100%

* See Instructor for the value of the above. Make up exams are at the discretion of the professor. Students may use calculators on examinations. Cell phones and other electronics devices are not permitted during examinations.

Excessive absences will result in a WU grade.

Class Participation

Participation in the academic activity of each course is a significant component of the learning process and plays a major role in determining overall student academic achievement. Academic activities may include, but are not limited to, attending class, submitting assignments, engaging in in-class or online activities, taking exams, and/or participating in group work. Each instructor has the right to establish their own class participation policy, and it is each student's responsibility to be familiar with and follow the participation policies for each course.

BMCC is committed to the health and well-being of all students. It is common for everyone to seek assistance at some point in their life, and there are free and confidential services on campus that can help.

BMCC Policy on Plagiarism and Academic Integrity Statement

Plagiarism is the presentation of someone else's ideas, words or artistic, scientific, or technical work as one's own creation. Using the idea or work of another is permissible only when the original author is identified. Paraphrasing and summarizing, as well as direct quotations, require citations to the original source. Plagiarism may be intentional or unintentional. Lack of dishonest intent does not necessarily absolve a student of responsibility for plagiarism. Students who are unsure how and when to provide documentation are advised to consult with their instructors. The library has guides designed to help students to appropriately identify a cited work. The full policy can be found on BMCC's Web site, www.bmcc.cuny.edu. For further information on integrity and behavior, please consult the college bulletin (also available online).

Course outline is tentative and subject to change. Instructor may substitute alternative exercises and problems.
